

Social Journey of 'Naga Mohan' and a walk with 'Inner Wear'

When was it last time you went out without wearing Underwear? I know you feel shy and uncomfortable.

You heard of book donation, dress donation, food donation and many other things. Have you ever thought of donating "Inner Wear" to Orphanage Girls to provide hygienic and dignified life? When somebody visit an orphanage they mostly give food, or note books, and in the least case they bring old clothes from home and donate. But what about, "Inner Wear" for orphanage girls and sanitary ads?

"Extra Mile" born to cater this noble cause for the needy and deprived orphanage girls. Started with 100 orphan girls in April 2017, giving to 400 girls this year, for the 5th consecutive year. We give two sets of bra, panty and petticoat to each girl.

The ULTIMATE point is that not just give once and forget. We provide inner wear to all these 300 girls repeatedly once for every six months. As well increasing the number of girls to benefit every year.

Naga Mohan Manda believes in adding something to not just our own lives, but even to those who live around us. He was a catalyst in providing basic inner garments to girls from orphanages and spreading awareness about menstrual hygiene. He says inner wear and sanitary pads are a symbol of dignity for women and so far Naga has provided aid to over 300 girls from over ten orphanages.

He also volunteers to provide notebooks and stationary to help children suffering from HIV, from orphanages and government schools. Naga has identified low confidence and self-motivation in these children, so he encourages visitors and volunteers to sponsor and support in their school/college fee. After working in CSR, Naga started his own work under "Extra Mile" and also works for people with disabilities, special needs, old age homes and many other charity activities.

In the year 2020 Extra Mile is merged with CHERISH ngo. Full form of CHERISH is - Commitment for Health, Education and Rehabilitation of the Impoverished and Struggling Humans. This hand-in-hand helps me to be a full time member of the CHERISH Children Home. And helps CHERISH to expand in to other social activities like education, health etc., as mentioned in the full form with my help.

Especially for all the financial needs, terms and conditions. This merge provides us a recognition with proper registration, office, receipts, tax exemptions, etc. Thus can seek more supporters to reach more needy.

Every year we are distributing inner wear on March 8th, on the occasion of International Women's Day. Below is list of orphanages being supported this year.
